FUSION ENS - iOS Keyboard + Browser Extension

- Problem: addresses are unusable on mobile devices.
- Solution: iOS ENS Keyboard + DNSSEC Browser Extension.

- Proof: Live NOW ON App Store (Oct 1) • 📽️ Demo video.

- Highlights
  - Type or resolve name.eth anywhere on iOS
  - DNSSEC support + simple REST API for apps
  - Multichain
  - Connected with Ethereum Follow Protocol (EFP)

🏅 Winner: ENS, Base and Ethereum Open Track

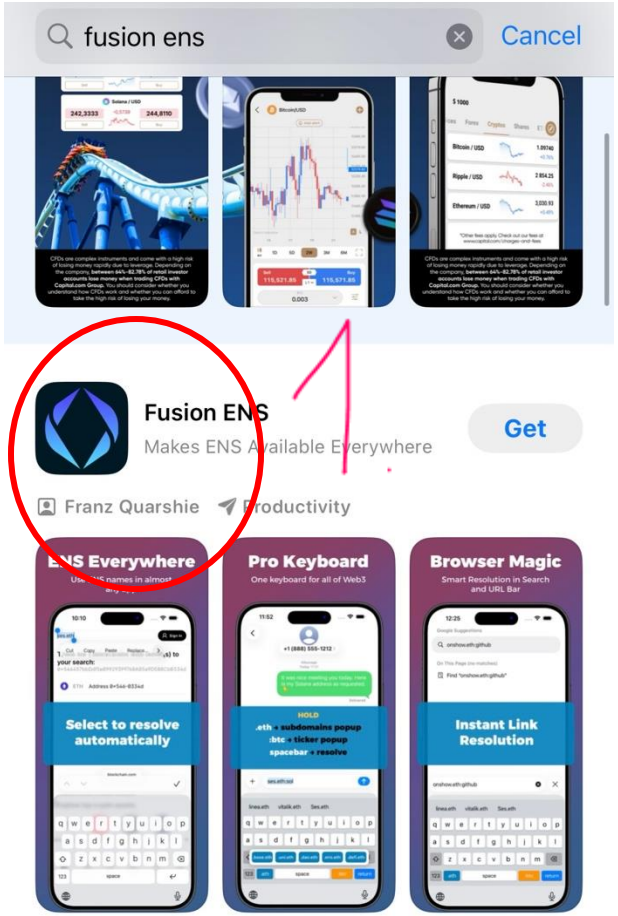
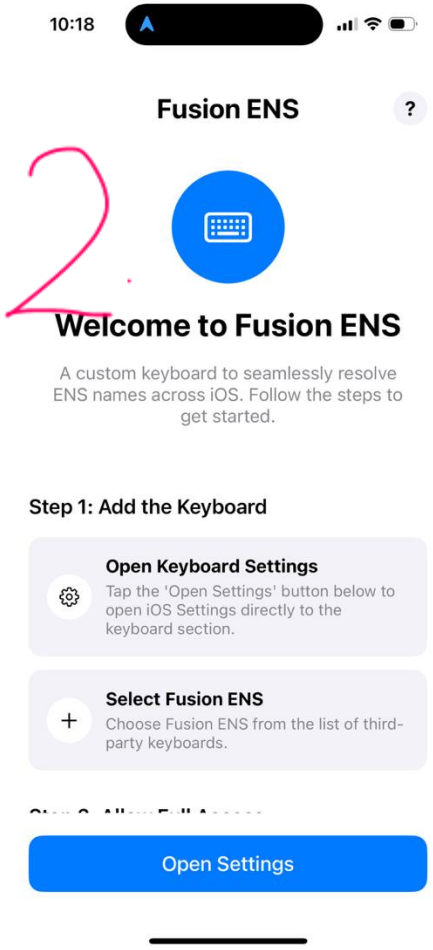
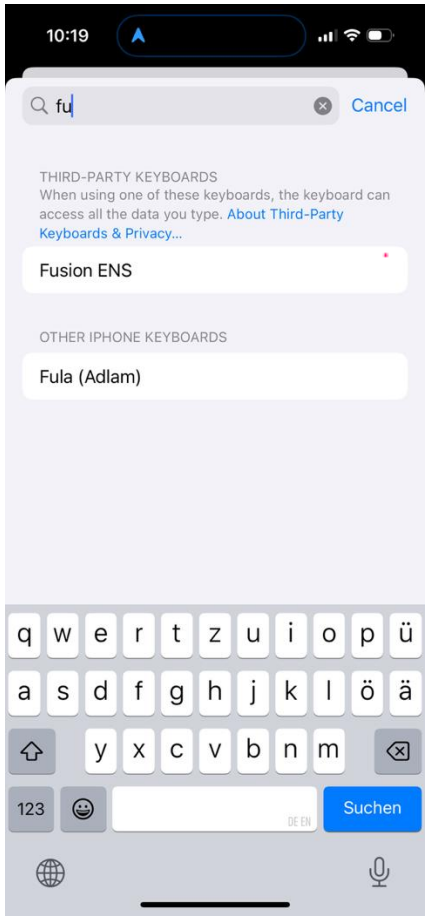
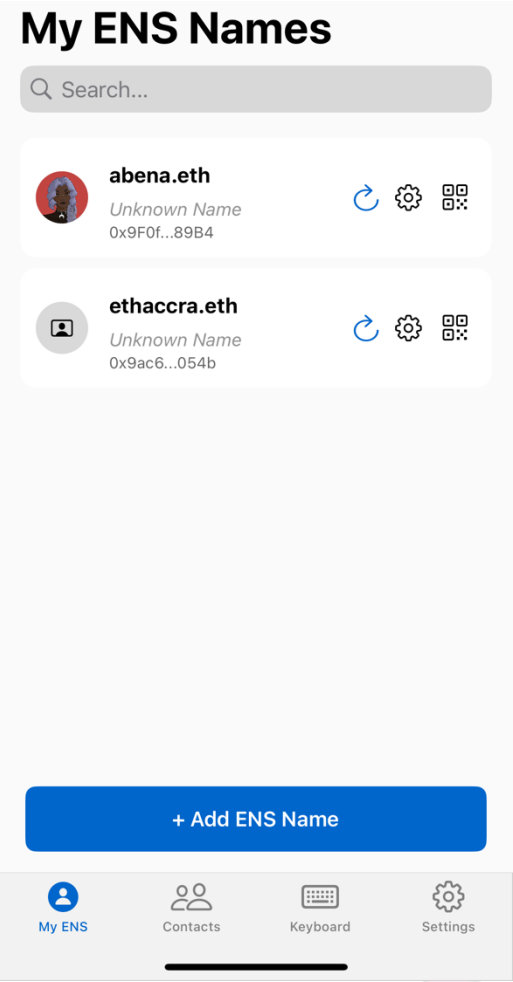
- Additionally, received a follow-up 0.5 ETH grant from the Ecosystem Working Group

FUSION ENS – APPLE STORE









ENROUTE - One ENS name routes money anywhere; splits, savings and transfers.

- Problem: Pay-ins are simple; payouts are chaos. Every incoming payment is manually split across savings, teammates, and vendors
  - resulting in copy-pasted hexes,
  - brittle spreadsheets and mistakes whenever anything changes.

- Solution: EnRoute turns an ENS subname (e.g., enroute.abena.eth) into a programmable router on Base; send to the name, auto-split by % or schedule, and update rules without changing the pay-to.
- How it works:
  - Payer → "enroute.alice.eth" → Router → Savings • Splits • Transfer.
  - Update recipients without changing addresses

ENROUTE - Programmable Payments with ENS Subnames (Base)

- Proof & Recognition
  - Winners of ENS, Base & Ethereum Open Tracks
  - 🎥 Demo

- Next Steps (Targets)
  - Following 8 weeks (targets):
  - 100 subnames
  - 1,000 routed transactions
  - Pilot: payroll splits + community savings (“susu”)

  - Additionally, received a follow-up 0.5 ETH grant from the Ecosystem Working Group.
